

A SLICE OF LIFE ...

It's been said,

we that are now,

Aren't old enough to reminisce,

But I don't believe it.

We cherish these days,

And love them - over and over again.

We give you our minds for you to do with as you please though . . . not always to our pleasure.

We sweat on both sides - for you, for us

And love it.

Why are we Seniors? What is a Senior? Is it any different our age, we are told it means maturity. We are told it is the our last. We may be doomed to a life of adult decisions, pushed into society's mold, and made to do something I step with confidence, and face the world around us. Fine!

76/Outstanding Seniors

Outstanding Seniors

They really stand out,
Those outstanding people.
They talk as if they shout,
Only because they have something to say.

They're usually rather smart,
Those outstanding people.
They always do more than their part —
Seldom gripe, never bite.

They blend with the background And the foreground they control. When their minds are set, they know no bounds To what they may achieve.

Yes, they rather live
In a dream world, these people.
But they give
So much to make the dream come true.

Outstanding Seniors/77

They that can act rather than wish shall become . . .
